This animated film is designed to show a day in the life of two hands. We see their lives side by side so it's easy to see what is the same - and what is different. Their early morning routine is similar - waking up and cleaning the house and children.

But where their lives diverge is when the two hands clean themselves - one hand uses only water. The other hand uses soap and water. As a result, their lives are very different. The hand that chooses to use soap stops dirt and contamination spreading to the food it prepares and feeds to the family.

As a result the family of that hand are happy, healthy and successful. Now watch the story for yourself.
